The Ugly Swans (2006) - IMDb

The Ugly Swans is a science fiction novel by Arkady and Boris Strugatsky. In the USSR, it was published in 1987, in the Latvian magazine Daugava, with the title "The Time of Rains". Initially, the novel was written in 1966-1967 to be published in the Soviet literary magazine Molodaya Gvardiya, but the publication was rejected by censor due to prominent political and free-thought overtones in the novel. It circulated in samizdat, and in 1972 was published without the authors' permission abroad, i

The Ugly Swans - Wikipedia

The Ugly Swans is a strange cautionary tale of a slow, subversive change from within that may end up being an unexpected kind of cultural as well as physical evolution. It's an ambiguous change, neither malignant nor uplifting in any usual sense and the reader is left to ponder much of this out alone.

The Ugly Swans (Russian:) is a 2006 Russian science fiction film directed by Konstantin Lopushansky, based on the 1987 novel of the same name by Arkady and Boris Strugatsky. The film is often compared to Andrei Tarkovsky 's Stalker, also adapted from a Strugatsky book.

The Ugly Swans (film) - Wikipedia

The Strugatsky brothers (Boris and Arkady) published several dozen novels, novellas, and short stories between 1958 and 1988. Their short novel The Ugly Swans, written in the 1960s and published in 1972, is categorized as science fiction, due mostly to the genre which includes the authors' other works. However, there are few elements in this work that warrant this categorization outside of that context.
